SUB officers elected for 1983-84; Blickhan, Walsh named to positions

by Linda Morris

New Student Union Board officers for the 1983-84 school year were elected on March 28 by the retiring officers and coordinators. The new Board Chairperson is Jim Blickhan, currently a junior majoring in psychology. The new Board Vice-Chairperson is Christie Walsh, currently a freshman who has an undecided major.

The Board Chairperson is responsible for the overall direction and coordination of Board activities. In addition, he represents the Board in communicating with other campus organizations and the college community.

Jim Blickhan, when asked why he had sought the position of Chairperson, replied, "I served as Films Coordinator on the 1982-83 Student Union Board and wanted to continue in SUB, assuming a position of higher responsibility."

The Board Vice-Chairperson is responsible for leadership in the recruitment of membership, Board public relations, and acting as Chairperson in the absence of the Chair. Graduation time draws near

by Linda Morris

Graduation — the time all seniors have been eagerly anticipating — will soon be here! Commencement exercises will take place in the Mabree Fieldhouse on May 7 at 6 p.m., but seniors will surely want to participate in the other graduation activities as well.

These activities will begin with a barbecue for graduates and their families in the Marian Centre Dining Room on Friday, May 6 at 6:00 p.m. Each senior will receive one complimentary ticket, and additional tickets may be purchased for $4.75 each in the Academic Dean's Office or at the barbecue, if reservations are made ahead of time.

On graduation day, May 7, a graduation coffee, hosted by the Alumni Association, will be held at 9:30 a.m. in the Marian Centre Dining Room. Following the Graduation Coffee, the Honors Convocation will be held at 10:30 a.m. in the Mabree Fieldhouse. At this time the Graduate Medical Record Administration Pin Ceremony, the Graduate Medical Technology Pin Ceremony, and the Graduate Nurse Pin Ceremony will take place.

Awards in almost every department will also be given out during the Honors Convocation, including the Avila medal which will be conferred by President Sr. Olive Louise.

Graduation Mass will begin at 4:00 p.m. in the Mabree Fieldhouse and be followed by the Commencement Exercises at 6:00 p.m. Approximately 335 students will be in the 1983 graduating class, and an additional number of students, approximately 45, will be receiving their masters degrees.

Practice for Commencement will be on Wednesday, May 4, at 3:00 p.m. in Room 101-201 and the Actors Laboratory Theatre in O'Reilly Hall. All graduating seniors participating in the Commencement exercises are required to attend this practice session.

Seniors may pick up their caps and gowns in the Bookstore on May 4 before Commencement practice. Students wishing to pick up their caps and gowns before May 4 can check in the Bookstore to see if they are available. The Bookstore will be open Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m.-8 p.m. and Friday, 9 a.m.-4 p.m.

Immediately after the graduation ceremony, caps, gowns and hoods need to be returned to Lower O'Reilly. Seniors need to have their I.D. cards with them at the time they return their caps and gowns. Graduates, therefore, are encouraged to tape their I.D. cards inside of their caps since they will need to have the cards with them during the Commencement exercises.

Interested students may still order class rings in the Bookstore. Each order must be accompanied by a $25 deposit.

Broadway comes to Goppert

by Denise Kaufman

Here's your chance to taste a little bit of the "Big Apple" without even leaving Kansas City. The Performing Arts Department of Avila College proudly presents "... From Lincoln Center to Broadway," a music-dance extravaganza.

This program which offers an array of popular show tunes, classical favorites, modern dance numbers, and a hint of comedy will be performed on Saturday, April 30 at 8:00 p.m. and Sunday, May 1 at 3:00 p.m. in the Goppert Theatre.

Those who attend will have the opportunity to hear Susana Velasquez, Oscar Long, Jim Wright, David Jones, Anna Pileggi and members of the Avila College chorus display their talents in production numbers from "South Pacific," "Carmen," "Porgy and Bess," "Cats," "Most Happy Fella" and "The Barber of Seville."

This musical spectacle was formulated under the direction of Richard Pond for dance, Daniel Larson for song, and Sister de LaSalle McKeon for music. It must be noted, though, that the students also played a key role in designing this program.

"The students were selected on the basis of their development on a certain piece learned in dance or voice class," Managing Director of Performing and Visual Arts, David Remer said. "They have input and much of what is presented represents student choices, expectations, disciplines and talents."

All Avila students, faculty and staff are eligible to receive their customary complimentary ticket for this performance. The ticket price for non-Avila personnel is $3.00.

Nursing students recognized

For some time now the Nursing Department has wanted to find a way to publicly recognize and award students who have endeavored to maximize their learning experiences. This year this dream has begun to become reality in the form of the MOSINA (Most Outstanding Senior in Nursing Award).

All senior Nursing students with a GPA of 3.5 or above in both the generic class and the RNB program are eligible for the award. The winners will be selected on the basis of a written summary of how they have met the terminal curriculum objectives of the Nursing Department.

The award, which will be a nursing class pin and the winner's name inscribed on a permanent plaque in the Nursing Office, will be presented at the Honors Convocation on May 7 at 10:30 a.m. in the Mabree Fieldhouse.

Nickname needs changing

Avila's academic excellence has been getting attention as of late, and its men's soccer and basketball teams have become powers with which to be reckoned. Avila needs a nickname that is more in line with our upcoming status.

It's time that Avila changes its nickname from Avalanche to something else — something more concrete and image provoking.

The college should have a nickname and symbol that will immediately signify Avila, along the lines of the Kansas Jayhawk and the Missouri Tiger.

Granted, sports teams and their nicknames are not the only criteria for selecting a college, but they certainly help in promoting public awareness.

When public awareness goes up, Avila will be recognized for the fine school it is, and enrollment will probably increase.

Perhaps an enterprising student will come up with a new nickname and corresponding symbol that captures the spirit of Avila.

Just think of the marketing possibilities. Our new symbol will be on decals, pennants, t-shirts and billboards. After all, there isn't too much you can do with "Avalanche."

Letter to the Editor

Wallenberg saved Jews

Dear Editor,

Enclosed is a poem I would like to have published in the Avila Examiner. The poem is about a man named Raoul Wallenberg, who in 1945 was taken as a prisoner by the Soviet Union for the "crime" of having saved 100,000 Jews from Nazi extermination. He is believed to still be in Siberia, as there have been people claiming to have been fellow prisoners with him.

Wallenberg has for years been the subject of articles, books and television programs. In 1980 60 Minutes aired a piece on him which disclosed that he had been seen as late as that year.

The poem is by Eschella Riz, daughter of a Holocaust survivor, Yaakov Riz, owner of the only Holocaust museum in the United States. He has been the subject of many interviews on television and numerous magazine and newspaper articles.

Sincerely,
Karen Coates

Raoul Wallenberg
The Lost Holocaust Hero in Red Chains

Somewhere in Siberia
In this cold slave land
There is an innocent prisoner
With chains on his feet and hands

His name is Raoul Wallenberg
A beacon of light
He saved 100,000 Jews
From Nazi genocide

Single handed he Fought Hitler's and Eichmann's demand
That all the Hungarian Jews must be sent to Auschwitz
The Nazi death land

And for the crime of saving Jewish lives
The Communists arrested him in 1945
And it is up to you and me
To save his life

Seven Nursing faculty members work for their doctorate degrees

by Mary F. Scallisi

Seven nursing faculty members are working toward their doctorate degrees in related areas of nursing, such as adult education and counseling psychology.

"Educational standards for nursing are being increased. That makes the advanced degree for those that are teaching nursing important," according to Melva Steen, associate professor of nursing.

The other faculty members who are working toward their doctorate degrees are Kay Sullivan, associate professor of nursing; Eileen Hubsy, associate professor of nursing; Jenean Sears, assistant professor of nursing; Judi Roling, assistant professor of nursing; Bev Lindsey; and Martha Staker, instructor in nursing.

Reasons for obtaining the doctorate degree are varied. Judi Roling would like "to know more about the process of education — especially about the process of adult education. Also, I love being a student. I believe in lifelong learning." Martha Staker would like a doctorate degree for independent practice.

Both Eileen Hubsy, who has taught at Avila for twelve years, and Jenean Sears would like to teach at the graduate level. "I would like to be an administrator in a school of nursing and/or do consultant work," says Jenean.

Kay Sullivan is responding to student demographics that show many nursing students are older students. She hopes to help these non-traditional students.

These women have learned to balance both their private and professional lives. "I have lots of family support," says Martha, a mother of three children, "and my hours are flexible enough so I can integrate all aspects of my life. My kids think it's funny that Mom goes to school when she doesn't have to."

Eileen says time management is the key. "I had to look at changing my priorities with how I spent my time." Melva, who has taught at Avila for seven years, agrees. "I make sure I have some time left for me."

Many benefits have resulted because of the advanced training. Judi applies what she learns in school to her own teaching. Kay, a mother of seven children, can better understand students now. "I have developed a great deal of empathy for students."

Studio is remodeled; Lights, camera, action

by Jennifer McKenna

Inside Room 110 a small television studio is growing.

"The whole studio has changed," said Michael Burks, Assistant Professor of Communication. "Thanks to a Title III Grant, we now have a full color, two-camera TV production system with post-production editing."

The professional equipment has the capability of producing video tape and can be used for airing on television. The cameras which are used by communications students are high quality industrial cameras. The studio walls have been insulated for better sound production. A pipe grid hangs from the ceiling for lighting instruments. The set background consists of a cyclorama curtain. With the addition of a double door the studio can be totally separated from the classroom and control room area.

The control room has also been enlarged; it now consists of two video consoles, an audio console, and a production board. For the first time communications majors have the capability of editing video tape.

"The whole studio has been changed," said Mr. Burks. "It's totally different. The students have also been very eager to use the new equipment."

Besides learning to use the equipment in the studio, students also have the opportunity of working with American Cablevision. Two basketball remotes, a tennis game, and a one-act play entitled "Wheels" have all been produced by Avila students and will air on Cable.

American Cablevision was impressed with the students' capable performances. Much of the students' knowledge of cablevision's equipment stems from the training they have received with the new studio equipment.

Besides being a facility for communications students to learn the skills of their chosen field, the new studio will be used by the Communications Division to produce video tapes in cooperation with other departments on campus. This will not only aid other classes but also make the community more aware of Avila as the programs are distributed by cable television and tape exchanges with other institutions. With the new equipment, college promotion can also be done for the plays done in Goppert Theatre.

"It is important to recognize that our students are directly involved in productions as crew members and performers, as well as producers and directors. It is a significant part of the training we want to give them. The new production studio will not only help our students, but benefit the whole college as well," said Mr. Burks.

Fee Board hears budget requests

The Student Activity Fee Board has presented the Dean of Students with their budget recommendations for 1983-84.

Seventeen areas funded by the Student Activity Fee totaled $37,151 in budget requests. The Board met with representatives of those areas for budget hearings March 24 and 26.

Fee funded areas had the opportunity to appeal their preliminary budget that was announced March 28. No area appealed their allocation.

Five students, two staff members, and one faculty member comprise the Student Activity Fee Board. Membership on the Board is appointment by the Dean of Students or by the Student Government.

Secretary/Treasurer of the Student Government is automatically a member.

Avila students vacation in France while others endure the elements

by Denise Kaufman

While most of us were enduring the elements during the end of February, a group of Avila students had the opportunity to travel through France on a spring break holiday. The trip, which lasted from February 25 to March 5, was organized by the Cultural Heritage Alliance. Rhonda Brown, Donna Malone, Ruth Garr, Tracey Akins, Drama instructor, Sheila Olson, and French Instructor Virginia May boarded a KLM flight and flew to Paris via Chicago. The group traveled by bus and with the aid of a well versed guide explored such famous historical sites as the Louvre, Arc de Triomphe, Cathedral of Notre Dame de Chartres and Palace of Versailles.

Four days were spent in the Loire Valley which is also called the "Garden of France." At this site one discovered beautiful 16th century Renaissance chateaux, medieval castles and lavish summer homes.

"I loved the castles and chateaux," Donna Malone said. "We saw them just like they were in the past, and it was like taking a trip back in time."

An additional highlight of this stop was an afternoon spent wine tasting in an ancient cave.

The travelers then visited Mont-Saint-Michel, an ancient monastery located on an island off the coast of Normandy. All agreed that this site should not be missed because of its beautiful structure. It has even been called a "marvel of Gothic architecture."

Four nights were also spent in Paris where everyone had time to shop for the latest fashions, sample French pastries and soak in the breathtaking scenery.

"I loved Paris; it is the neat-est city," Tracey Akins said. "The people there were so cosmopolitan compared to Kansas City where everyone is so conservative."

Avila French Instructor Virginia May felt that this trip was a wonderful educational experience as well as a lot of fun.

"One becomes aware of the differences in the American and European ways of life," she said. "It is educational to see how people live and to discover the cultural differences. This, added to the enormous wealth of the heritage of France, is incredible."

With enough student response, a trip to France may again be offered in the spring or summer of '84. Students are encouraged to begin saving now so that a great opportunity will not be missed!

The ultimate frisbee

by Jim Blickhan

The invasion of the flying saucers, more commonly referred to as Frisbees, will soon come because spring has arrived. The Frisbee brand flying disc, which is produced by Wham-O, Inc., is without a doubt one of the most widely used creations to have emerged from the 1950's. There are many different kinds of Frisbees and even more types of Frisbee games. They include distance, freestyle, disc golf, and guts, but perhaps the best of all is the game of ultimate.

Ultimate is an exciting, fast action team sport where the object of the game is to score goals. The official rules of ultimate as decided by the International Frisbee Disc Association (IFA) are as follows. Two teams each composed of seven players compete on a playing field which is divided into three zones. There are two end-zones which measure thirty yards by forty yards wide and a central-zone between them which measures sixty yards by forty yards wide.

One team stands in the central-zone and the other places its members in both end-zones. The end-zone team has possession of the Frisbee and is on offense; they attempt to pass the Frisbee from one end-zone to the other without missing or dropping the Frisbee and without having the opposing team intercept or knock down the Frisbee.

Should the end-zone team successfully complete a pass, then a goal is scored which counts for one point. If the end-zone team fails to complete three attempted passes or if the central-zone team intercepts a pass, then the teams switch positions and the new end-zone team goes on the offensive. The team members must stay within the boundaries, and should the Frisbee leave the field of play, it would count as an errant throw by the end-zone team.

The team with the most points when the time limit expires is declared the winner; the time limit will vary depending on the specific tournament. While any Frisbee can be used to play ultimate, the 165 gram Frisbee is recommended by the IFA for ultimate play.

The game of ultimate requires coordination, timing and most of all quick reflexes. This is one game that should provide a challenge for everyone.

Avila signs new students

Avila's new head soccer coach Scott Ferris has announced the signing of Tim Flynn to a letter-of-intent. Flynn will be coming to Avila from Rosary High School in St. Louis where he was the wing-back and captain of his team. He chose to come to Avila first to further his academic studies and secondly to play competitive soccer. While at Rosary he was picked unanimously for the All Catholic Athletic Council and named second-team Missouri All-State.

Dana Ober from Harrisonville, MO and Ella Shoats from Kansas City, MO have both signed letters-of-intent to play for the Lady Avalanche in the coming season. Ober comes to Avila from Raymore-Peculiar High School where she earned two varsity letters in volleyball and was named to the All-Conference team. At 5'11" she should give the Lady Avalanche some height and skill that should bolster their front line.

Shoats will be transferring to Avila from Penn Valley Community College where she played under the direction of head coach Joe Maloney. The 5'6" Junior will be majoring in nursing at Avila. Her experience should benefit the young Avila squad greatly.

NEED HELP WITH YOUR STUDENT LOAN?

If you've attended college on a Guaranteed Student Loan or a National Direct Student Loan made after October 1, 1975, consider spending a couple of years in the Army.

If you train for certain specialties, the government will release you from 1/3 of your indebtedness (or $1,500, whichever is greater) for each year of active duty.

Obviously, a three-year enlistment cancels 100% of your debt. But if you sign up for the Army's exclusive two-year enlistment option, we'll still cancel 2/3 of your debt.

Plus, you may be eligible for generous educational incentives.
